Good afternoon!

At last it would seem we have some settled weather after the awful past few months, it feels like we have had non stop gales and it was a relief to get out over the weekend to remind myself what UK diving was like!

Conditions are stable and settled at the moment and Endeavour is out solid throughout Feb and into March both at weekends and midweek so if you fancy getting wet give me a shout please.

Which reminds me to mention our new contact details. Now that Sean has taken over downstairs and I have moved upstairs please can you note the following changes:

Upcoming Dive Trips.

For the first quarter of this year Endeavour is busy with training courses so there are loads of opportunities to come along for a dive or two. Best way to find out what's coming up take a look at my training calendar here { HYPERLINK "http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/trainingcalender.htm" \o "blocked::http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/trainingcalender.htm" } which has my whole year planned out, or for more detailed information for the next 4 weeks ahead take a look at Endeavour's calendar here { HYPERLINK "http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/charteravailability.htm" \o "blocked::http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/charteravailability.htm" } which will start to be updated regularly from 1st February onwards

Upcoming UK Expeditions.

Most of our midweek expeditions are now pretty much full, but we do have spaces on our Murree and Medina trip which runs from May 9th-11th. I also have spaces on my Falmouth trip which runs from 19th-21st September. Other than these 2 trips all our midweek individual trips are now full.

Fancy something different this year?

I have spaces on Scooter training trips throughout this year and the 2 day program costs £295 per person which includes the hire of the new N19 Salt Water Scooter from Silent Submersion. Boat fees and gas are extra and if you are Trimix qualified then you can extend the trip to 3 days and use the Scooter on one of the larger and deeper wrecks that we have off out Coast. Scootering adds a new dimension to your diving and if you've never tried one before you will find it great fun as well as being a fantstic way to extend your gas consumption in deep water!

I also have 2 separate 4 day Intro Cave Courses running in the Dordogne on either the 22nd-25th or 27th-30th September. I have booked the accommodation and all the specialist gear you'll need for the course which includes manifolded doubles for OC divers and stages / inboard cylinders for the CCR divers. Also included is back plate, harness, wing and canister torch too! I have looked at the best way for interested divers to travel and it would seem that flying to Bergerac airport is the cheapest, quickest and most convenient way of getting there. I will meet you all at the airport and drop you back off at the end of the course. Cost for this is £850 per person which includes training, manual, certification, equipment hire, air / nitrox, twins, stages and inboard 3 litres for CCR divers, back plate harness and wings, accommodation, hire car and airport transfers. All you need to pay extra for is travel to and from the Dordogne and food while you are there.

Please remember that this is not sump / mud diving, this is cave diving in open passage in standard back mounted doubles of if you are CCR trained then your Rebreather can be used too.

Upcoming Over Seas Expeditions and Bikini 2008.

Full details can be found here { HYPERLINK "http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/worldwidedivingtrips.htm" \o "blocked::http://www.deepbluediving.co.uk/worldwidedivingtrips.htm" } and it now seems we have enough folks to run the Bikini trip in 2008 so if you registered your interest with me and still wish to go please can you email me again for more details including the price which is now nearly set

I wish you all the best for the forthcoming Season and look forward to seeing you in Plymouth or Overseas soon!
